

On the dynamics of dissipative complex Henon maps

Mikhail Lyubich¹

¹ Stony Brook

Resumo/Abstract:

Dissipative Henon maps are polynomial automorphism of C^2 which can be viewed as perturbations of one-dimensional quadratic polynomials. We will discuss several themes in this area: classification of periodic Fatou components, problem of existence of wandering components, and hedgehogs for Cremer maps.