

Homogenization and error estimates for a Neumann problem in highly oscillating thin domains

Ricardo Parreira da Silva
UNESP - Rio Claro

In this work we analyze convergence of solutions of the Poisson equation with Neumann boundary conditions in a two-dimensional thin domain with highly oscillatory behavior. We consider the case where the height of the domain, amplitude and period of the oscillations are all of the same order, and given by a small positive parameter.