Focused Estimation in Portfolio Selection Problems

Rosember Guerra [1], Andrés Ramírez Hassan[2],

[1] Department of Finance, School of Economics and Finance, Universidad EAFIT, Medellín,

Colombia; email: rguerra@eafit.edu.co

[2] Department of Economics, School of Economics and Finance, Universidad EAFIT, Medellín,

Colombia; email: aramir21@eafit.edu.co

We introduce the idea of Minimum Expected Loss estimates to propose an estimator for portfolio selection problems. In particular, we propose MELO estimators for the global minimum variance portfolio, tangency portfolio, and Treynor-Black model. We develop the theoretical framework, and perform simulation exercises to compare our MELO proposal to other competing alternatives in term of predictive power.